Hello. I'm going to show you how to log in to our communication portal. It's basically a web version of our app where you can easily manage content that is then used in the app.

This is the first page of our communication portal and it's basically a simple login. Here you can log in with your email. I'll do that now.

Then you can enter your password and then you can choose to log in. It's very simple. You have a welcome screen where you see all the options that apply to you at that moment.
